Mac Barnett born in 1982 is an American bestselling author of more than 20 books for children, including Extra Yarn and Sam and Dave Dig a Hole, both illustrated by Jon Klassen, and both winners of the Caldecott Award and the E.B. White Read-Aloud Award. His picture books, Leo: A Ghost Story and The Skunk, were recognized as The New York Times Best Illustrated Children's Books of 2015. Barnett also writes the Brixton Brothers mystery series and, with Jory John, The Terrible Two novels. Barnett loves his work because, he says, kids are "the sincerest appreciators of stories, a uniquely receptive and honest audience."

Barnett grew up in California, and graduated from Pomona College where he studied literature. He was always "obsessed" with books and knew he wanted to be a writer, but didn't figure out what kind until he worked at a kids' camp in Berkeley one summer. Barnett would make up stories for the kids and gained a reputation as the man with the fantastical tales ("Mac Barnett").
