“Grace Lin (born May 17, 1974) is an American author and illustrator of picture books, books for early readers, and middle-school novels. Lin often includes aspects of Taiwanese and Chinese culture in her works. Her novel Where the Mountain Meets the Moon (2009) was named a Newbery Honor Book in 2010, and her picture book A Big Mooncake for Little Star (2018) was named a Caldecott Honor Book in 2019. In 2022, Lin won the American Library Association’s Children’s Literature Legacy Award for her overall contributions to children’s literature” (“Grace Lin”).

“Lin was born to parents who had emigrated from Taiwan. She and her two sisters were the only Asian American students at their school in upstate New York. From an early age, Lin liked to read and draw. Lin attended the Rhode Island School of Design in the 1990s and studied children’s book illustration” (“Grace Lin”).

“Lin often featured children of Chinese descent in her books, not only to showcase her heritage but also to add diversity to children’s literature. Her picture books include Dim Sum for Everyone! (2001) and Fortune Cookie Fortunes (2004). Lin’s children’s novels include The Year of the Dog (2006), The Year of the Rat (2007), and A Big Mooncake for Little Star (2018)” (“Grace Lin”).
